WHAT HAPPENS IN SACRAMENTO ...
... DOESN'T stay IN SACRAMENTO.

The Sacramento region is where forward-thinking and a remarkably diverse population combine to create the new California Dream. It's a proving ground for global issues of water supply, air quality, climate change, urban renewal, energy use, sustainable food and agriculture, and more.

That's why the Society of Environmental Journalists (SEJ) is bringing its annual conference to Sacramento in September 2016. More than 500 journalists and many others from around the country and beyond are expected to attend.

SEJ wants to hear from regional leaders like you, who have a unique perspective on what's happening here and why it's important for the rest of the world to know about it.

Please join us at 3 p.m. Friday, April 17 for a conversation on how to shape the region's portrayal to the world. This is your chance to discuss the most pressing issues and activities and why the Sacramento area is a "Region on the Rise."
